CORONATION BUTTERSCOTCH PIE . . .

1-4 cups brown sugar 2 cups milk, scalded
1-3 cup flour 3 egg yolks
1-2 teaspoon salt 1 tablespoon Crisco

Blend sugar, flour, and salt together. Add milk and cook until mixture thickens. Just before removing from stove, stir in beaten yolks and fluffy, creamy Crisco. Let stand while preparing Crisco pastry of 2/3 cup Crisco, 2 cups flour, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. (Crisco, because it is whole-some and digestible, makes easily-digested pie crusts.) Divide the dough into three parts and roll each out to a sheet. Cut into rounds, 8 or 9 inches in diameter. Place separately on baking sheets, pricking each well. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.), until delicately brown. Put pie together like a layer cake, alternating crust and filling. Cover with meringue. Brown slightly in a slow oven (325 degrees F.). Serve as soon as cool.

CWA Projects in Deep South To End by Feb. 1—Hopkins

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Southern farmers were assured today they need not fear a shortage in farm labor due to the lure of wages paid by the civil works administration.

After criticism by Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, who said high civil works wages threatened a shortage of farm help in the cotton country, Harry Hopkins, the civil works administrator, said his projects would end in the deep south by February 1.

Today the administrator received a telegram from the Alabama (Ga.) Chamber of Commerce protesting against discontinuance of civil works in Georgia, saying 1,000 could be employed in Screven county for the next 12 months without interfering with farm labor.

Some projects in the Florida citrus belt, Hopkins said, may not last more than two weeks longer, while it was his plan to reduce civil works jobs in cotton planting time, beginning late in January. Without giving details, the administrator said CWA now was considering a labor situation submitted by five Florida citrus growers.

When Governor Talmadge criticized CWA policies earlier in the week, Hopkins said "all that guy is after is headlines," and declared: "He doesn't contribute a dime; yet he's always yapping."

Today the CWA head told news: "I permit that despite complaints he believed the benefits the laborers would get from the winter work would overshadow any objections."

Laborers now are paid 30 cents an hour on highway work, Hopkins said, the same scale set up by the bureau of public works.

"When I came here," he said, "I found they were paying 5 cents an hour for a ten-hour day on highways in Georgia. When I came in and put the relief rate at 30 cents an hour they said the world would come to an end. It didn't."

"I believe in a new deal for the worker and the farm hand. I realize there are people with the country's good at heart who don't agree with me. It is all a matter of differing philosophies."

Shortly after Talmadge's criticism, Hopkins wired Ronald Ransom, Georgia civil works administrator, offering to withdraw civil works jobs from rural communities if those employed could find work elsewhere.

He said he was confused by Senators George and Russell, of Georgia, asking expansion of the civil works program in the state and the governor expressing displeasure at the work being done.

Fire at White House Quickly Extinguished

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A fire broke out in the waste-paper room in the White House executive office today but was quickly extinguished without any damage.

It is an inside room, without light, in the cellar of the executive offices—which were gutted by flames several years ago at Christmas time.

The motion to organize the solicitors into a "cohesive association" was made by Solicitor Leavy. The conference was called by Attorney-General Cummings to discuss the preparation of briefs in capital felony appeals, his office aiding in such cases before the supreme court.

Solicitor-General Atkinson suggested that such an organization "could receive in the future the same treatment in legal procedure as the association might adopt." Solicitor-General Conner urged that "we stay as far from the Georgia legislation as we can," stating that "I have been trying to enforce the laws as I found them and am advocating no reforms. You had better divorce yourself from the legislature to start with."

Solicitor-General Atkinson said that new laws have apparently been introduced into the legislature for the purpose of "tearing down the effectiveness of the laws we have now." McClelland said that at one time members of the legislature introduced bills calling for changes "so they will not lose a lawsuit on the same question again."

SOLICITORS-GENERAL ORGANIZE NEW GROUP

Robert McMillan, of Clarksville, Elected President of State Association.

Organization of the Prosecuting Attorneys' Association of Georgia with Solicitor-General Robert McMillan, of Clarksville, as president, was announced Thursday following a meeting at the Piedmont hotel attended by solicitors of superior and city at the call of Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans.

Other officers include Solicitor Jeff A. Pope, city court of Cairo, vice president, and Solicitor-General Cecil Davis, Toombs circuit, secretary. Solicitors-General Marvin Cross, of the Middle circuit; W. H. Atkinson, of the Coweta circuit; and W. H. Conner, of Spalding superior court, and Solicitors C. H. Leavy Jr., of the city court of Brunswick, and John S. McClelland, of the criminal court of Atlanta, were appointed as a committee to draft by-laws.

104 Prisoners of City Are Pardoned by Key

Christmas spirit Thursday impelled Mayor James L. Key to issue 104 pardons to prisoners in the city stockade, but he expressed fear that "thanksgiving" celebrations incident to the newly found liberty might offer such a temptation that several of them would be incarcerated again before Christmas Day.

About 65 per cent of those pardoned were in cases following conviction on charges involving liquor. The mayor forwarded the list of those receiving executive clemency to J. C. Ellis, superintendent, and told Ellis to "tell them au revoir but not good-by."

Atlanta's two city recorders and Ellis prepared the list submitted to the mayor.

WEST HEADS CAMPAIGN FOR B. & L. MEMBERS

George W. West, president of the First Mutual Building and Loan Association of Atlanta, has been appointed state chairman for the membership campaign of the United States Building and Loan League, it was announced Thursday. Mr. West was a member of the campaign last year, when nearly 1,000 new members were obtained among the building and loan leagues of the nation.

The membership of the U. S. league now represents approximately $9,000,000 in capital, or nearly half of the home loans of the country. Mr. West said, "Twenty-four of Georgia's 40 leagues are members of the association, which is the national trade association of the business. Mr. West said that he looks on the program as one of distinct service to the national movement for business recovery."

New CWA Projects Will Cost $68,046

Work on new projects of the CWA will begin immediately in a number of Georgia counties, Miss Gay B. Shepperson, executive director of the CWA, announced Thursday in releasing details of a new group of jobs.

A total of $68,046 will be spent in Putnam, Towns, Baker, Douglas, Meriwether, Heard, Montgomery, Wilkes, Polk, Dougherty, Brooks and Lowndes counties, she said. The CWA funds will supply labor for road work, repairing of public buildings, and drainage work for prevention of malaria.

The state highway board Thursday called for bids on 21 paving, grading and bridge contracts, the bids to be opened at the state capital on January 11. Chairman W. Eugene Wilburn said that the projects involved a total expenditure of approximately $1,000,000.

The January letting is the fourth to be held by the highway board on the state's $10,000,000 federal emergency highway program and when the contracts are approved the highway board will have let about $4,000,000 of the state's total share of the special federal allotment.

The call for the bids went out as Captain J. W. Barnett, ousted board chairman, was debating whether or not he will make a new attempt to regain his lost post. The state supreme court Wednesday remanded for retrial Captain Barnett's ouster action against J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, who already has resigned and who has been succeeded as board chairman by Mr. Wilburn and whose membership on the board has been filled by John A. Heck, of Marietta.

The bids called for Thursday are on the following projects:

- Paving of 2,083 miles of highway on the McDonough-Atlanta highway in Clayton county.

BOARD ASKS BIDS ON 21 ROAD JOBS

Highway Work Totalling $1,000,000 To Be Awarded on January 11.

The state highway board Thursday called for bids on 21 paving, grading and bridge contracts, the bids to be opened at the state capital on January 11. Chairman W. Eugene Wilburn said that the projects involved a total expenditure of approximately $1,000,000.

The January letting is the fourth to be held by the highway board on the state's $10,000,000 federal emergency highway program and when the contracts are approved the highway board will have let about $4,000,000 of the state's total share of the special federal allotment.

The call for the bids went out as Captain J. W. Barnett, ousted board chairman, was debating whether or not he will make a new attempt to regain his lost post. The state supreme court Wednesday remanded for retrial Captain Barnett's ouster action against J. J. Mangham, of Bremen, who already has resigned and who has been succeeded as board chairman by Mr. Wilburn and whose membership on the board has been filled by John A. Heck, of Marietta.

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES

After the Christmas feast there are the left-overs—plenty of them. And the family doesn't want to have cold turkey every meal. They like a little variety, even in their turkey. So we are giving some attractive recipes for using your left-over turkey in a number of dishes that almost make you wonder whether turkey is best on the first day or the second or the third.

There are many peppy ways of serving the remains of the Christmas turkey in dishes of which your men folk will heartily approve. We hope you will enjoy several of these.

Devilled Turkey.
Cold turkey (legs, wings, second joints, etc.), salt and pepper, flour. Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 cup turkey broth, parsley. Sprinkle cold turkey with salt, pepper and flour. In a skillet place butter, chili sauce, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Fry the turkey, and when it is delicately browned add hot turkey broth and simmer for 5 minutes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and serve.

Turkey With Quick Mushroom Sauce.
Two tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 can cream of mushroom soup, 1 1/2 cups cold diced turkey, 4 hard cooked eggs, sliced, salt and pepper if desired.
Melt butter in a saucepan and blend with flour. Add soup and stir until thickened. Then add the turkey and sliced hard cooked eggs. Add salt and pepper if desired, but since the turkey was seasoned when cooked, and the mushroom soup is so carefully seasoned, little additional seasoning will be required. Serve on biscuit straws, which are made by rolling biscuit dough to not more than 1/8 inch in thickness, then taking a sharp knife and cutting the dough into thin strips—about 1/8 inch wide and 3 inches long. Bake as for biscuits in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until delicately browned (from 5 to 8 minutes). Place the biscuit straws on a platter, pour the turkey with mushroom sauce over cups cold cooked turkey, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1/4 cup stuffed Spanish olives, sliced, 1 beaten egg yolk, buttered toast or crisp crackers.

Melt butter in saucepan and blend well with flour. Add milk or cream, salt and pepper, and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add turkey, parsley and olives. Add egg yolk, well beaten. Serve on buttered toast or on crisp crackers.

It has been frequently said, "Anyone can be a fancy cook, but it takes a good cook to be a plain cook." Nowhere is this homely saying more true than in using left-overs. She richly deserves her reputation as a good cook and good manager, whose magic touch transforms into interesting, appetizing dinner dishes wee bits and dabs of food tucked away in the refrigerator after a previous meal. Often unnecessary in the good advice not to use too many expensive items to save a small amount of food. Skill in combining and seasoning determines the success of dishes from left-overs. Here are several suggestions for converting remnants of yesterday's roast into dishes that will please your family immensely. They will give you the satisfaction of knowing you are being extremely thrifty, and they will be ready to serve in 30 minutes or less.

Slice cold meat and place it in a frying pan with a small amount of butter, brown very slightly, then pour over it a sauce made by combining the following:
One-fourth cup tomato ketchup, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon pure vinegar, 2 teaspoons flour, 2 teaspoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard.

Simmer the meat slowly with this sauce, or place it in a moderate oven for about 1-2 hours. The meat which tended to be a bit dry will be moist and flavorful and delicious. (Serve with baked potatoes and a green salad to have a grand quick dinner.)

HUEY LONG FACES INCOME TAX PROBEFederal Agents Conducting Thorough Inquiry Into Senator's Receipts.

By RICHARD L. TURNER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A thorough investigation of income tax payments was added today to the troubles besetting Huey Long and his Louisiana political associates.

A corps of internal revenue agents, it was learned, is at work in the senator's home state, making a detailed study of his receipts, and those of his colleagues, for purposes of comparison with the returns made to the government.

Officials here would make little comment on the case, but Long, at New Orleans, responded:

"That has been up 750 times and always comes up just before congress meets. I am not interested. The inquiry was disclosed to be actually the renewal of an old investigation that was begun during the Hoover administration. When it became apparent that the inquiry could not be completed before the democrats took over the government, the study was laid aside to await disposition by the incoming administration."

The reopening of the case came at a time when Long opponents were rising generally in Louisiana against his policies. A revolt, spreading through the rural sections of the state in the last few weeks, yesterday reached its full force in the detection of the New Orleans democratic organization, which had been generally regarded as the chief instrumentality for keeping Long in power.

In addition, a senate committee has been investigating the election of Long's colleague, Senator Overton, and is now preparing its report. Senator Connally, democrat, Texas, its chairman, said today that if he had his way it would contain a denunciation of "the political practice in Louisiana of having so-called dummy candidates whereby control of the election machinery is secured and exercised."

Of the renewed investigation, Guy T. Helvering, the commissioner of internal revenue, would say nothing beyond an explanation that such cases were confidential. Acting Secretary Morgenthau, of the treasury, and the White House disclaimed knowledge of the developments.

Morgenthau Disinterested.
"When I took office," Morgenthau said, "I told the internal revenue bureau that any tax cases it considered needed investigation should be investigated—let the chips fall where they may. The cases are not referred to me. I do not interest myself in any individual case."

The renewal of the investigation followed closely upon Morgenthau's assumption of office and his order transferring jurisdiction over the internal revenue bureau from Assistant Secretary Hewes to himself. Hewes later resigned.

The old investigation provoked protests from the senator's friends. They accused the revenue agents of opening Long's mail, tapping his telephone lines and showing him at all hours. These assertions were renewed about a year ago, causing David Burnett, then commissioner of internal revenue, to deny that "any special investigation" of "any senator" was in progress. It was shortly thereafter that a decision was reached to leave the case to the incoming democratic administration.

The revenue bureau was reported today to have obtained a transcript of the recent stormy investigation of the Overton campaign and to be paying

WARNER BROTHERS SETTLES 'GANG SUIT'

Suit of L. C. Perkins, former warden of old Campbell county, seeking $100,000 damages from Warner Brothers and Keith's Georgia theater for alleged libel through presentation of the motion picture, "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang," Thursday was settled for $1,500, it was announced. The picture was adapted from the "I Am a Fugitive From a Georgia Chain Gang" story written by Robert Elliott Burns.

The settlement does not restrict further showing of the picture, but allows it to be shown anywhere without danger of additional libel suits, it was said. The settlement was the third made in the series filed by Georgia officials, Paul Phillips, of old Campbell county, and the estate of the late Warden Hardy, of Troup county, having accepted settlements. The case brought by Judge Vivian Stanley, of the state prison commission, is still pending.

Attorneys for Perkins were John I. Kelley and Edith Campbell, and Camp, Savage & Crawford. The defendants were represented by Jones, Evans, Powers & Jones.

ing special attention to statements made by witnesses regarding large sums of money which they said were paid over to the senator in connection with his political activities.

Popular-Priced Opera Successful, Says Official of Chicago Company

Successful beyond the expectations of the sponsors, popular-priced opera which will come to Atlanta during the week of January 7 has demonstrated that the public will support adequately a good company giving performances at moderate charges, George D'Andrea, associate director of the Chicago Opera Company, said Thursday on his arrival to complete arrangements for the Atlanta season at the auditorium.

Mr. D'Andrea will remain in Atlanta until tonight, when he will return to New York for the holidays. He said that the Chicago company closed at the New York Hippodrome on Monday after 26 weeks which saw audiences averaging 4,500 to 5,000 persons crowding into the Hippodrome. The top crowd was 6,200 for Carmen, he said. The season in New York was the greatest achievement in opera history, he added.

Stars of the Chicago company include former Metropolitan stars, Pasquale Amato, baritone; Santa Bionda, soprano; Giuseppe Biamonte, conductor; Charlotte Ryan, dramatic soprano; and Dreda Aves, mezzo-soprano. Others are Giuseppe Radelli, tenor; Giuseppe Intermante, baritone; Mino Rossi, bass; Elvira Hiel, soprano; and Franco Taffuro, tenor.

"Aida" to be given Monday night, January 7, as a feature of the All-Star Concert Series and not as a part of the season sponsored by the Philharmonic Society, was given at the Hippodrome 23 times. "Faust" to be given Tuesday night, was presented 17 times in New York. Other operas include: Wednesday matinee, "Hansel and Gretel" night "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," Thursday, "Lohengrin," Friday, "La Boheme" and Saturday matinee, "Carmen," night "Il Trovatore."

In addition to its stars, ballet and chorus, the company is bringing to Atlanta a 40-piece orchestra and two carloads of scenery. Alfredo Salmaghi is the founder and director of the company.

As evidence of the popularity of the lower-priced opera, Mr. D'Andrea said that during last summer persons attended in shirt sleeves as well as evening clothes. The company played four weeks in Boston.

Appearance of the company here will be the first in the south. Sale of season tickets for the performances Tuesday to Saturday, inclusive, will begin December 26 at Davison-Paxon Company and Rich's, and will last through December 30. Single seat sales will begin January 2. Season prices range from $2.50 to $7.50.

SIR HENRY DICKENS PASSES IN LONDON

Dr. Knud Rasmussen,
Danish Arctic Explorer,
Dies of Poisoning.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Sir Henry Dickens, 85, the son of the novelist, Charles Dickens, died today from injuries received several days ago when he was hit by a motorcycle on the Chelsea embankment.

Sir Henry lapsed into unconsciousness at 2 a. m. in the midst of his family, who surrounded him at the hospital to which he was taken Saturday following the accident.

Four specialists made a strenuous fight to save his life but his injuries were too severe to prevent his death at the advent of the season which his father had pictured as the happiest and jolliest period of the year.

With Sir Henry's death disappeared the last direct link with the famous creator of Oliver Twist, Pickwick and all the other famous Dickens characters.

DR. KNUD RASMUSSEN.
COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Dr. Knud Rasmussen, Danish arctic explorer, died here today after a long illness brought on by food poisoning contracted on his last expedition to Greenland. He was 54 years old.

MRS. GEORGE WHITNEY.
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Mrs. George Whitney, widow of the founder of the Whitney National Bank of New Orleans, died at her home here today after an extended illness. Members of the family said she was in the late sixties.

W. ROSCOE BONSAI.
LENOX, Mass., Dec. 21.—(AP)—W. Roscoe Bonsai, 65, retired railroad leader, died at his estate here tonight. He had been ill for 10 days with pneumonia.

NRA SET-UP REVISED; CLEANING CODE FOUND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Broad acceptance of the lower prices set for dry cleaning was reported by recovery administration officials last night and they pressed forward with an effort to clear away other codification problems before the year-end.

The new prices were set last night to wind up a tumultuous inquiry into widespread violations of the first prices set for dry cleaning.

Meanwhile Hugh S. Johnson was subdividing his own administrative responsibilities among his principal assistants and putting speed behind the final steps for approval of codes to cover the printing and publishing and construction industries, two of the larger groupings still undecided. He planned to finish both by the end of the year.

Today a public hearing went forward on 40 separate codes for machinery producing industries of various types.

Other developments of the day included:

Removal of six more Blue Eagles from establishments which the administration said were violating the newly extended recodification agreement.

Declination by Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard, of a post as presidential member of the motion picture code authority because he would have no direct say in industrial policies.

NRA efforts to stop government departments, including the forest service, from telling bidders on government materials contracts to disregard code terms.

The formula found by NRA for protecting the higher prices of the better dry cleaning establishments while reducing the minimums to levels that would give the cut-rate cleaners a basis for survival, placed a premium on quality and was the first such action taken under codes.

No Substantial Cuts.
In reducing the minimum prices, NRA declared there was not, as publicly believed, any substantial reduction in cost in a cash and carry store. Fixed rents for retail outlets, it found, balanced the cost of operating a fleet of trucks, and with vigorous collection on the part of the deliverymen it concluded there could not be more than two per cent added cost for the delivery cleaner.

The real difference therefore was said to lie in quality, and a demand for low quality, inexpensive cleaning was recognized to exist.

The high price cleaners will be issued a special Blue Eagle emblem to identify their superior work. Later scientific standards are to be established to which they will be expected to conform.

Minimum prices for dry cleaning in Atlanta have been fixed at a flat rate, and not on a percentage basis, as recently announced by the Dry Cleaning and Laundry Owners' Association. Robert J. Snow, the secretary-treasurer, said Thursday.

Code authorities at Washington notified the association that the minimum price for dry cleaning a suit or plain dress in the Atlanta area would be 65 cents, and that pressing had been reduced from 40 to 30 cents. The cleaning of hats from 75 to 65 cents.

320,000 Rat Traps Reach Georgia For Drive on Rodent Population

By BARBARA BAKER.
The Piper of Hamelin, so the story books say, used music to lure the rats away; but Georgia will fare much better perhaps, with her 320,000 traps.

Seven carloads of man's best substitute for the family cat, when it comes to eliminating rodents, arrived in Georgia Thursday. And they are one thing the rats won't carry away. There won't be any hi-diddle-diddle as the rats dance out of town. Only a sharp snap as an inquisitive nose loosens the spring and a steel band puts Mr. Rat into the discard.

The traps will be waiting for the rats in 60 counties of southern Georgia, where they are to be set by 5,000 CWA laborers assisting in the project of the United States health service and the United States biological survey to check the spread of typhus fever, according to W. E. Crouch, assistant chief of the division of predatory animal and rodent control. This modern counterpart of the famous piper will use the traps to follow up the red squill, a special rat poison, which also will be used in the effort to exterminate typhus-carrying rodents.

Heretofore the rats ate their fill of Georgia chicken and peanuts—and got away with it. But not any more. The next time they put their teeth into a delectable bit of cheese or a savory morsel of meat they won't be able to go home and tell the rest of the family how it tasted. And likely as not the rest of the family will soon be missing, too.

ATLANTA FINANCES BEST IN AMERICA, SAY CITY LEADERS

Atlanta municipal coffers are in better condition than in any other city in America. This was the terse statement Thursday of Mayor James L. Key and B. Graham West, comptroller, as the latter prepared to close city accounts for the year.

West reported to Key that all current obligations will be met for the year and that a balance of $500,000 in cash, $175,000 of which must be diverted to meet fixed charge requirements, will be in the treasury.

This balance, however, will not remain long in the treasury, as West plans to begin payment at once of bills due Atlanta merchants for city supplies since last April. West will redeem certificates of indebtedness in the order of their seniority. The certificates bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent from date of issuance.

COUNCIL WILL MEET ON JAIL CONTRACTS

Special Session This Afternoon Also Will Confirm Welfare Committee.

Legal technicalities in connection with contracts for erection of the new $346,000 police station and confirmation of a new joint city and county welfare committee to supersede the old relief commission will feature a special session of council at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mayor James L. Key Thursday called the special meeting when it was learned there was a conflict between resolutions passed by council to expedite start on the police station.

Following a conference during the morning between Key and George F. Longino, chairman of the Fulton county commission, it was decided that a group to co-operate with federal agencies in handling relief work should be continued for 1934.

A commission was selected subject to ratification by the mayor and council and the Fulton commission. Key and Longino are ex-officio members and the others who are subject to confirmation are Frank H. Neely, president of the 1933 Community Chest; the 1934 president of the Community Chest and 1934 chairman of the benevolence and pensions committee and the alms and juvenile committee of the city and county, respectively; 1934 chairman of the Fulton commission; S. D. Truitt, Fulton county farm agent; W. E. Mitchell, vice president and general manager of the Georgia Power Company; J. Sid Tiller, president of the Georgia Federation of Labor; Hugh C. Couch, of the Southern railway, and Henry Smith, chairman of the Community Chest's social service index.

LONDON SILVER
PACT RATIFIED

"I find it necessary, in aid of the stabilization of domestic prices and in accordance with the policy and program authorized by congress, which are now being administered, and to protect our foreign commerce against the adverse effect of depreciated foreign currencies, that the price of silver be enhanced and stabilized."

The proclamation provided that the 50 per cent of the silver to be retained by the treasury shall be kept until December 31, 1937, as bullion "except for coining into United States coins."

The proclamation is effective immediately, but applies only to silver hereafter mined "from natural deposits in the United States or any place subject to the jurisdiction thereof."

The president expressed belief that adherence to the London silver agreement would bring about a stability of silver prices and permit the law of supply and demand to govern.

India's Silver Sales.

"India," he explained, "had the power to dispose of, on the markets of the world, at any time, and at any price, hundreds of millions of ounces of silver. In fact, India had the power and capacity to dump silver derived from the melting up of Indian silver coins in an amount equal to the world's production from the mines for the period of two years. This power and the uncertainty attending its execution was destructive of the value and stability of silver throughout the world."

Shortly before the silver announcement, Chairman Jones, of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, disclosed that a $25,000,000 increase had been made in the fund set aside by the corporation for the gold-buying program.

Jones said the fund had been raised from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000. A little more than a fortnight ago $25,000,000 was added to the original $50,000,000 allotment, and at the same time it was disclosed that foreign purchases, previously negligible, had been increased later to the extent of $35,000,000.

Jones did not discuss the progress of the program abroad, beyond saying that the $75,000,000 allotment was far from exhausted. He revealed that 507,485 ounces of domestic gold had been bought at a price of $16.976,000.

The domestic gold price today was continued at $34.00, unchanged since Monday. Meanwhile, gold in London was selling for $32.14 an ounce, computed at the prevailing exchange rate of $5.09 1/2 to the pound sterling.

PITTMAN SEES ACTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The man from whose pen came the silver agreement, Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, said tonight the approval of the London pact by the president "meant an enormous increase in the export trade of the United States."

Pittman said that the increased foreign trade would "tend greatly to our recovery."

He declared that the United States ratification of the treaty would result in a world-wide stabilization of silver price at 64 1/2 cents an ounce, the price fixed by Mr. Roosevelt.

The senator said the ratification of the pact for which he had worked was his "Christmas present" and that he "never took part in any legislation that gave me more satisfaction and happiness."

SILVER ADVOCATES PREDICT

QUICKENING OF RECOVERY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—A return of the silver dollar to the pocket of the average citizen, partially replacing greenbacks, was described tonight as one of the most noticeable immediate effects the average citizen would see from President Roosevelt's silver rehabilitation order.

Advocates of the course went further and predicted, too, that it would prove a stimulus to general recovery by accelerating foreign trade.

SILVER COINING BEGUN

SOON AFTER CIVIL WAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Coinage of silver dollars, about to be undertaken on a large scale under President Roosevelt's order of tonight, was begun soon after the Civil War and has been continued ever since except for the period between 1905 and 1921.

By definition a "standard silver dollar" contains 412.5 grains of silver 910 fine. It is legal tender for all public debts and exchangeable for silver certificates and minor silver coin.

SILVER MINERS GREET

ACT WITH ENTHUSIASM

RENO, Nev., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Fixing of the price of silver at 64 1/2 cents an ounce by the government was greeted with widespread enthusiasm by mining men of the west today.

"That's fine. It's the best word I've heard in years," was the comment of Henry M. Rivet, secretary of the Nevada Mine Operators' Association, when told of President Roosevelt's action.

"Fixing of the price at the new level means that silver now is at a point where it can be mined profitably. At the previous price, the cost of production was prohibitive."

Production of silver in Nevada last year totaled 1,304,000 ounces.

Government purchase of the metal at 64 1/2 cents will result in opening many dormant silver mines, mining men said.

HERE IS HOW PLAN

WILL WORK IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—An explanation of how the silver coinage plan would work, as outlined tonight, was:

A silver producer would take his metal—say 100 ounces—to the mint. Taking the silver at its value as fixed in relation to gold, the mint would convert his 100 ounces of silver into $64.50 of coins. The full theoretical value of the metal would be $129.

Half of this the government would keep.

At this rate, compared with the present price of about 43 cents an ounce for silver, the producer, despite that the government took half of his metal for a minting charge, would stand to gain $21.50 on his hundred ounces of metal—the difference between the $64.50 his metal was minted into and the $43 the hundred ounces would bring on the present market.

SUBSTANCE OF PROVISIONS

OF SILVER PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—In brief, the silver proclamation by President Roosevelt calls for:

Coinage of half of the newly mined, domestically produced silver, the other half to be held in the treasury as a charge for coining.

Automatically increasing the price of silver to an estimated 64 1/2 cents an ounce.

An estimated coinage of 12,000,000 ounces of silver annually for four years.

Advantages claimed for the action by proponents include:

A large increase in foreign trade.

World stabilization of the silver price at 64 1/2 cents an ounce.

An increase in foreign buying power.

A boost in commodity prices.

An aid to the domestic mining industry.

MANAGER OF RFC

IN ATLANTA AREA

sales and credit manager for Cotton States Fertilizer Company which post he resigned January 1, 1932, to become secretary of the board of regents.

He is a prominent member of the American Legion, having been a national vice commander in 1922 and 1923, making official visitors to 29 states in the Legion's program for rehabilitation of disabled veterans.

Aided in Reorganization.

Since becoming secretary of the board of regents, Mr. Cocke has aided materially in the reorganization of the university system. He was in charge of the board's inventory program, which occupied the first six months of last year, helped to draw up and present to the legislature the reorganization program for the system which was adopted at the last session and which has just recently gone into effect.

More recently he has steered the board of regents' enlargement and improvement program, assisting materially in putting through the federal loan recently approved for this program and had helped in preparing the board's farm program which was approved in Washington Wednesday.

Although both congratulated Mr. Cocke on his new appointment, Chairman Hughes Spalding, of the board of regents, and Chancellor Philip Welter Thursday expressed deep regret over his leaving the service of the state.

"Mr. Cocke has been the guiding hand in the success of the board of regents' activities," Chairman Spalding said. "He has been a great help to the board and while we are glad to see him obtain the new appointment it is with regret that the board gives up his services."

Chancellor Welter's remarks were similar.

"Mr. Cocke has been invaluable to the board and to the university system," the chancellor said. "He is one of the hardest working men I have ever seen and he obtains the best results always. I am sure that he will be successful in his new position."

Mr. Cocke makes his home with his mother, Mrs. Minnie Cocke, and his wife and two children, Aline, 14, and Erle Jr., 12, at 57 Thirteenth street, northeast.

The manager of the R. F. C. agency is in charge of all component parts of the corporation in his area. The corporation at present is specializing in reopening closed banks, liquidating those which cannot be reopened and providing funds for those in danger of closing. After January 1 it will be in charge of the new act providing deposit insurance for members of the federal reserve system. It now provides various governmental agencies with needed funds and it is reported in Washington that the president is seriously considering its expansion in order that it may make loans to privately owned corporations which cannot obtain capital from present sources.

Reviewing the Shows

Loew's Grand Theater

Has "Going Hollywood"

Loew's Grand Theater has always lavishly produced. In "Going Hollywood," her newest picture, opening at Loew's Grand theater today, she has for her leading man Bing Crosby, and a supporting cast including Patsy Kelly, a star of Earl Carroll's Vanities; Stuart Erwin, Ned Sparks and Fifi Dorsay. Some of the best of recent screen songs are to be found in this production, directed by Raoul Walsh, and exploiting innumerable dancing girls and colorful sets.

Perhaps the outstanding song of the production is "Our Big Love Scene," but audiences will also like "After Sundown," a beautiful, plaintive waltz, and "Well Make Hay While the Sun Shines," both of which Bing Crosby sings with Marion Davies. And Miss Davies' rendition of "Cinderella's Ball" is equally effective.

"Going Hollywood" is the story of a school teacher who hears a singer over the radio and falls in love with him. Like Shakespeare's heroine, she is frank and straightforward, so she seeks out the singer (Bing Crosby) and announces her love. He is unfortunately involved with a French chorus girl (Fifi Dorsay), and they are both leaving for Hollywood. Marion becomes the actress' maid, accompanies them both to Hollywood, and, to be near the man she loves, gets a job on the set where he works.

Hollywood life, in the studios and out, affords colorful backgrounds for the story of "Going Hollywood."

And don't miss "The Night Before Christmas," a new Silly Symphony, which is also on the bill at the Grand this week.

MAJOR PROVISIONS

ARE AGREED UPON

IN LIQUOR BILL

$2.20, but after some discussion this lost by two votes.

Advocates of a low tax first suggested $1.50 a gallon and the flat $2 represented a compromise between representatives from dry states who wanted a higher figure and the lower rate sought by members from wet areas. The first vote on the $2 rate was said to have brought a tie of 7 to 7 but others shifted for it on the final count.

The committee rejected a proposal to fix the minimum tax at $1.50 with authority to the president to increase it as required.

It adopted the interdepartmental committee's proposals for the double duty schedule to enable the administration to bargain for reciprocal trade advantages in foreign markets for American exports in return for a share of the import market.

This would bring down all tariffs on imported liquors, but spirits from countries that do not enter trade agreements with the United States would bear a higher rate of duty.

Countries entering trade agreements would be subjected to flexible tariffs within certain limits.

On spirits, the present import duty is $5 a gallon, plus the excise tax of $1.10. The bargaining rates ranged from $2 to $5 a gallon, with a $3 flat rate for the non-bargaining countries.

Beer import duty, now $1 a gallon, under bargaining rates would range between 16 to 26 cents a gallon.

Of 25 cents flat, plus excise tax of $5 a barrel of 31 gallons for non-bargaining countries.

Still wine import duties, now varying according to alcohol content up to 24 per cent, would have a bargaining range of between 60 cents to $2 a gallon, or a flat $1 rate for non-bargaining countries.

Sparkling wines import duty, now $6 a gallon plus excise levy, would range from $1.60 to $6 with a flat $2.50 for non-bargaining.

Wines containing more than 24 per cent alcohol would bear the same rates as distilled spirits.

"Embezzlement—Partnership," the concluding cause of which read that such a person who embezzles shall be punished as if he had been convicted of larceny.

Jury Given Instructions.

With the last final question of evidence disposed of the court began the lengthy and comprehensive charge, directing the jury as to their responsibility in judging the credibility of witnesses, the reconciliation of conflicting evidence, the measure of damages.

The court instructed the jury that punitive damages might be awarded in addition to actual damages, if, in their judgment, aggravating circumstances were believed to have existed and that on the other hand they might minimize the damages if they believed strong mitigating circumstances were involved.

The jury was charged that if they believed McRae innocent, or that Boykin had failed to establish his plea of justification, they might then consider Boykin's plea of privilege, that is, that his statement was made with good intent, to protect his own interests, or that it was a legitimate remark upon the official acts of a public officer.

The jury was instructed that if they found for either principal on justification without more than the truthfulness of the charges need not be considered.

Privilege Pleas Filled.

Both McRae and Boykin filed pleas of privilege—that is, the right to make comments in good faith upon the acts of public officials—Boykin filing the additional plea of justification, and assuming the burden of proof.

The court defined for the jury the words "Justification," "Privilege."

Rogers in "Mr. Skitch"

For Fox Anniversary

With its new program starting today, which features Will Rogers and Zasu Pitts in "Mr. Skitch," the Fox theater celebrated the fourth anniversary of its opening. The week's offering brings to the city an exceptionally fine and suitable program of entertainment for the Christmas season.

Jimmy Beers, at the great Fox organ, has arranged a special presentation of Christmas music, with gorgeous scenic and lighting effects. There will also be a group of seasonable short subjects.

Will Rogers is indelibly associated with the Fox theater. His pictures have generally been chosen for special anniversary occasions and no screen player is so linked with the history of the Fox as the homely and philosophically humorous Will.

In "Mr. Skitch" Will not only has a role that fits him like an old glove, but he plays, for the first time, opposite a feminine star who is an ideal foil for his humor. It almost seems strange that producers have not put Rogers and Zasu Pitts together in pictures before this.

The story revolves around the adventures of an average American family who lose everything they possess, except an old tin Lizzy, in the depression. They determine to seek a new start in life in California and set out to drive across the continent from Missouri.

The easy-going Will is a glib victim for any tale of woe and gives away their reserve gasoline supply and almost his last dollar. Meanwhile Zasu, as Mrs. Skitch, wears fully tags along, while Rochelle Hudson, as the oldest daughter, mixes romance with disgust at the family poverty. There are also the younger sisters, twins.

"Malice" and other terms used in the pleas filed by the principals.

In his instructions as to the form of verdict, Judge Dorsay told the jury that if they made awards of damages to each party the verdict should be for the defendant; if neither party received an award, then the verdict should be for the defendant; that if different amounts were awarded the smaller should be subtracted from the larger, and the resulting amount awarded to the party receiving the greater award; and that if only one award was made the verdict should be for that party.

Mass of Data Introduced.

CWA Enlisting 1,000 Men For Chattahoochee Project

Headquarters for $1,000,000 Job Opened at Shawmut, Ala.; Work to Start Soon.

WEST POINT, Ga., Dec. 21.—The arrival at West Point of E. E. Foster from the United States district engineer's office at Mobile and the immediate opening of headquarters at Shawmut for the enlistment of workers confirms the first report of the big Chattahoochee project. A force of 1,000 men working under the civil works administration is being recruited by the Alabama authorities. Actual work is expected to start as soon as the men and equipment can be assembled. The total outlay is expected to be about $1,000,000 and the work is to continue for a period of about six months. The project will be known as channel improvement of the Chattahoochee river. West Pointers accord credit for securing national aid for the river project to J. Smith Lanier, president of the local telephone company, who has devoted much of his time for several months to this cause.

The problem of deepening the river channel here has received serious consideration for many years, especially since the disastrous high water of December, 1919. The West Point Rotary Club, which was organized in 1920, took up the Chattahoochee river problem as one of its major objectives and Mr. Lanier sees in the accomplishment of the present river improvement plan a high tribute to the principles of Rotary.

The immense choke in the river just above Langdale on the Alabama side will be removed, while at the same time a large amount of work in clearing and cutting back the banks

Savannah Bank Scrip Nearly All Redeemed

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 21.—(P)—Savannahians have turned in all but $225 of the more than half a million dollars worth of scrip issued by the Savannah Clearing House Association during the national banking holiday last March. The scrip was in circulation only a few days. The small amount still outstanding is believed to be in the hands of souvenir collectors.

of the stream on both the Georgia and Alabama sides will be done, the river being the state line at this point. This plan calls for the use of 1,000 men and the moving of a vast quantity of dirt and debris which has obstructed the river channel. It is expected this work will result in lowering the flood water level by four and one-half feet, making channelway for the freer and quicker passage of the stream.

U. S. Relief Bureaus Seek To End Era of Professional Hitch-Hiking

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 21.—(P)—Hoboes and hitch-hikers, the kind that have formed the habit, will have the strong influence of the government after January 1 to aid them in mending their ways and settle in one spot. Transient bureaus have been in operation several weeks but beginning on January 1 a special effort will be made to aid those who are attempting to wander over the country by thumbing autoists or hobbing on trains, it was announced here by W. N. Crofton, local bureau manager.

Discussing the plan to end these practices at a conference here with Columbus, Phenix City, Ala., and Muscogee county officials, Crofton stated the influx of hitch-hikers and hoboes during the past several years has constituted a menace to the public. He asked and was promised the co-operation of local officials in referring these people to the bureau.

There are five bureaus in Georgia, located in Atlanta, Savannah, Macon, Augusta and Columbus. They are not likely to be flooded with requests for free transportation when to any plan is inaugurated. When hobo "John," with a hankering for distant fields that seem greener, applies at one of the bureaus he will find the government not so green. A little work will be thrown in with the ticket.

Crofton said he believed the government agency would be able to find work for applicants in order to end his relaxation in the form of detective stories read in bed before he goes to sleep at night.

An aid in banishing the president's remarkable endurance is his habit of daily breakfast in bed. And the favorite breakfast dish of the president is a concoction known as "Roosevelt hash." It's soft boiled eggs with pieces of toast and bacon mixed together and the president does his own mixing.

EDITOR JAMES MILLER PASSES AT PEMBROKE

PEMBROKE, Ga., Dec. 21.—(P)—James R. Miller, 69, editor of the Savannah Hawkeye, died at the home of his son, Frank Miller, here today after an illness of several months. He was stricken with paralysis some time ago.

Mr. Miller was born in Statesboro 69 years ago and moved to Savannah 17 years ago, where he edited the paper known as the Savannah Hawkeye and where he was known by thousands of people. Recently he moved to Statesboro.

The editor probably knew more other people personally than any other south Georgia newspaperman. His long connection with newspapers, his frequent visits to the state capital and his attendance upon numerous state-wide and less important political conventions, and his last 20 years or more brought him into close and intimate contact with those who were active in the political affairs of Georgia.

He was the late Augustus Miller, of Bulloch county, and the grandson of the well-known Baptist minister, the late Rev. John R. Miller, of Bolsh county.

Funeral services will be held in the First Baptist church in Statesboro tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Southern Football Teams Will Face Aerial Tests Next Season

HARLSCHER'S WILL BE PLAYED BY ALL SCHOOLS

Tech Shows Way in Inter-sectional Games; Wynne Faces Task.

By Dillon Graham, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Tulane University football team, expected to be one of the strongest in Dixie next fall, will play eight Southeastern conference rivals, more than any other member has scheduled.

Auburn, Vanderbilt and Alabama will play seven engagements with Southeastern opponents, while Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia Tech and Louisiana State have arranged.

Sewanee and Kentucky have four each at this time, with most of the schedules of teams in a tentative stage.

The Greenies of Ted Cox tackle Auburn, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Georgia Tech in a row in the October stretch and then finish with Mississippi, Kentucky, Sewanee and Louisiana State.

None of the Southeastern conference eleven finished unbeaten and untied during the season just ended and from the looks of next year's assignments it is doubtful if any will survive the battling with a perfect mark.

A glance over the various slates reveals the following high spots:

Tennessee—The Vols must reach top form early to slip past Alabama, Duke and Fordham on successive week-ends starting October 20.

Mississippi—At least four crack teams will block the hopes of Ed Walker's outfit and may turn back the Mississippians. They are Florida, Tulane, Tennessee and Louisiana State.

Georgia Tech—No one envies the Engineers their five closing tests against Tulane, Alabama, Auburn, Florida and Georgia. Alabama is the hardest in years, starting with Tulane and Louisiana, and followed in quick order by Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Duke, Georgia Tech, Florida and Georgia. The Engineers are with Birmingham-Southern and Oglethorpe.

Louisiana—Biff Jones' crew takes on Rice and Southern Methodist at the outset and these hardly will be regarded as warm-up tilts. Tennessee and Tulane in a row in December will be tough. Georgia Washington and Oregon offer the inter-sectional spice.

WYNNES HAS JOB.

Kentucky—In his first season as coach, Clot Wynne must send his Wildcats against Auburn, Alabama, Tulane and Tennessee in rapid succession, spaced only by a tilt with Southwestern, of Memphis.

Vanderbilt—The Georgia Tech menace on October 6 will be hard to slip past. Tennessee and Alabama are powerful finishing rivals.

Mississippi State—The Maroon hopes likely will be back to back in November with Tennessee and Tennessee as the conspirators.

Tulane—The tough conference slate isn't going to be any easier to negotiate with an inter-sectional battle against College of the South.

Sewanee—The battle with Army in West Point October 20 is the highlight of the Purple program.

Georgia—Except for the annual engagement with Yale, Georgia sticks close in its own Southern schedule. After last year's long-distance trekking, Alabama—the defending Southeastern champion—has Tennessee and Georgia on successive Saturdays in October.

Hunk to Know Answer On Jan. 3

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 21.—(AP)—Whether Heartley (Hunk) Anderson, former Notre Dame member, will be the next head football coach at North Carolina State is a question which will not be known until after the holidays.

The former Irish coach and the college athletic council talked things over at a closed meeting here, but Anderson, who described himself as "on tour," wants a three-year contract, but did not reveal his figure—at least, to the newspapers.

Another session of the athletic council will be held January 3. Eight of 10 applicants for the job are still under consideration, officials said. A total of about 40 applications have been received by the council since it declined to renew the contract of Coach Clippert Smith early in the month.

After leaving here last night, Anderson was reported to have conferred with members of the University of North Carolina athletic council at Chapel Hill, but no official word was given out as to the result.

At the same time it was learned that both State and the University of North Carolina are making contacts with Benny Friedman, former Michigan coach, who has been playing with the Brooklyn Dodgers, pro outfit.

Hicks Faces Wynne At Avondale Arena

These matches are expected to be full of action. Ladies with a paid escort will be admitted free. This card celebrates the first anniversary of the Avondale arena.

ways striking hard when he arrives.

Six feet two and weighing 190 pounds through the playing season, Larson made full use of his height, weight and power. He followed an unorthodox type of end play, making him a most difficult man for any attack to combat. He would wait, drift, float, fade or slash. It was impossible to decide what he would do by his position on the field. A keen analyst, he has an uncanny habit of going to the right spot and always striking hard when he arrives.

While Minnesota won only two Western conference games, Larson was the reason why Minnesota went through the season unbeaten. He lacked flash. There was nothing spectacular about his play, but he had accuracy and devastating consistency.

LIONS PRACTICE AERIAL ATTACK ON SECOND STOP

Air Game Stressed for Battle With Powerful Cards in Bowl

By Bill Parker.

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Columbia University Lions, en route to Pasadena, Cal., for a Rose Bowl engagement with Stanford's football team, today practiced their aerial attack, Southern Methodist University.

The Lions were honor guests of a luncheon club and later showed their football wares in a two-hour workout on the S. M. U. gridiron.

No team in the land is supposed to know as much about tossing and catching passes as the Methodist Mustangs. But the Lions fitted the game today with a series of forward, lateral, and most any other kind one can mention.

MORRISON WATCHES.

Coach Ray Morrison, wizard of the passing game, stood on the sideline and watched the Lions practice. He has dynamic force and timing power and was one of the best competitors in Western football.

Sauer, of Nebraska, was the leading scorer of the Big Six conference and the main reason why Nebraska again won the Missouri Valley championship. Sauer, tall, heavy and powerful, plays the tail-back position on defense. He has dynamic force and timing power and was one of the best competitors in Western football.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

SUMMER'S SALAMANDERS.

Inventory of the summer's work on salamanders leads to the pleasant discovery that four species have been added to the state fauna list. Leucogenus marmoratus, the salamander described originally from Georgia, was found in Rabun county for the first time this year.

The rare red salamander, Pseudotriton, is represented by a single specimen collected by Oliver Allen. Its near relative, of course, is much more common, and it is to be found near Atlanta. Desmognathus quadrimaculatus, the black salamander, was found in sufficient numbers and sizes to establish almost completely the rate of growth and breeding ages of this species. Its smaller and less spectacular relative, Desmognathus carolinensis, is also now on record.

It is my hope eventually to publish a book on the "Salamanders of the Southern States." I would like to include in this volume colored illustrations of the world's most beautiful species. They are beyond belief when seen, and words, of course, can never bridge the gap between black type and the image they are supposed to create. When Ridgeway set up his color standards, with exact shades and names, he made a most valuable contribution toward placing color interpretation on an exact basis. His names of colors, however, such as vinaceous cinnamon, leave much to be desired when merely writing, and the romance of colors seems to have way to a real advance in accuracy.

Furthermore, the lives of these humble animals (or, as stated by one reader of this column, the "so-called lower animals") are interesting beyond the imagination. Truth, it has been said, is stranger than fiction, and the best illustration of this bromide is found in the lives of salamanders.

Finally, I know that once a real presentation of this subject is made, there will be a crop of new zoologists to take up the detailed studies that will remain. Nothing stimulates the imagination more than pictures and text in understandable language. Witness the devotion of boys and girls to the works of Ernest Thompson Seton. If the works of this man were on the subject of local species, our zoology would be a different thing.

So I go on compiling and painting. Do not wait for this book for your last-minute Christmas shopping. Maybe I will get it out in time to dedicate it to my grandchildren.

314,000 To Be Given Work for Year In Federal Waterways Development

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Secretary Dern, in a summary of army engineers corps work under the public works program for this year, said that the expenditure of $314,000,000 would provide employment for 314,000 men for one year.

To date, he said, $141,200,000 has been obligated and 44,697 men have been put to work.

Pointing out that river and harbor improvements and flood control on the Mississippi and Sacramento rivers have been allotted $22,125,808, he said that within a year after completion of the first allotment of $7,000,000, approximately 3,000 men had been put to work.

The progress made in the preparation of plans and specifications, the rapidity with which advertisements have been issued and contracts awarded and the expedition of actual construction, are believed to be without precedent, even under war conditions, Dern said.

"This work has been undertaken by the war department in addition to its regular maintenance of river and harbor projects and the completion of work under way prior to the start of the public works program, amounting to $38,900,000 and providing for the employment of 39,000 men for one year."

Dern listed the work as including development of Great Lakes ports, improvement of the inland waterway system on the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, regulations of the Missouri, flood control on the lower Mississippi and Sacramento rivers, improvement of the Savannah, Cape Fear and Columbia rivers and extension of the Atlantic and Gulf intracoastal waterways.

COTTONSEED OIL MEN OPPOSE EXPENSE PROBE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—The cottonseed oil refining industry, once investigated by the federal trade commission, recalled that experience at a marketing agreement hearing today and flatly refused to agree to open its books to what was termed "fishing expeditions."

T. O. Asbury, of the Southern Cotton Oil Company, spokesman for the industry, said the industry was willing to furnish the secretary of agriculture all information needed to enable him to determine if the agreement was being operated properly.

"We cannot, however," Asbury said, "agree to give him the right to go on fishing expeditions in our books without stating any reason or excuse. It may develop that we are obliged to do so, but it will not be with our consent."

SATURDAY HOLIDAY GIVEN U. S. WORKERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today extended the full Saturday holiday before Christmas and New Year's to all government workers, including those outside of the city of Washington. Exception was made where the services of certain government agencies is necessary.

Requests of $1,000 each were left to Mr. Sinai cemetery, Frankford, Pa., and to the board of education of the city of Chattanooga.

The requests to the board of education and the board of mayor and aldermen are for the presentation of medals annually to outstanding students, policemen and firemen of the city of Chattanooga.

Cecil R. Hall, commander of Betty Harrison Jones chapter of Disabled American Veterans and general chairman of the purchasing and distributing committee of the "Big Brothers," announced.

Delivery of the baskets by the Rogers stores to the headquarters will begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon. In each basket will be four-pound ham, two or three pounds of other meats, five pounds of sugar, a sack of flour, five pounds of potatoes, nuts, candies, oranges, apples and other foods and tidbits. The 500 baskets are expected to provide meals for at least 1,200 and 1,500 persons for at least a week.

In addition to the food baskets, the "Big Brothers" headquarters will distribute toys and clothing. Many toys were taken in as donations for ladies at the charity ball at the Ritz Hotel, and others are being purchased.

chased in order to spread Christmas joy among the children of the poor families. The families to receive the baskets have been investigated and checked through the Social Service Index, and although many other families are worthy and needy, it is impossible to provide baskets for all whose applications have been filed. Mr. Hall said. A net sum of approximately $1,500 was realized from the charity ball and the sale of newspapers by the "Big Brothers." The worst and neediest cases have been picked to receive the baskets. Although the majority of the families are expected to call for their baskets, arrangements will be made to deliver baskets in cases where families are unable to call at the headquarters because of illness or other causes.

YOUTH ORGANIZATION DISSOLVED BY MUELLER
BERLIN, Dec. 21.—(P)—The dissolution of the evangelical youth organization and the turning of its membership over to the leadership of Hjalmar von Schirach, chief of the Hitler youth movement, were decreed today by Reichsludwig Ludwig Mueller.

The action—the bishop's answer to an ultimatum of evangelical youth leaders that they would lose confidence in him if he did not reform the Protestant church cabinet—apparently met with little enthusiasm among church folk, nazis and non-nazis alike.

An opposition spokesman declared that the placing of the church youth people under the jurisdiction of the Hitler youth leaders neutralizes, in effect, the hold of the church upon the growing generation.

BULLITT QUILTS MOSCOW FOR WASHINGTON TRIP

MOSCOW, Dec. 21.—(AP)—American Ambassador William C. Bullitt started for Washington tonight where he will take up the matter of quarters for the United States embassy here.

Before he left by train for Berlin, the envoy said he had been offered a number of buildings as possible locations for the new embassy and that he had inspected them but could not make a decision before leaving full details before the state department.

Mr. Bullitt arrived in Moscow December 11. He will sail (aboard the United States liner Washington) from Havre on December 28.

DODGE DEALERS MEET IN ATLANTA TODAY

A full attendance is expected at today's Dodge dealer conference to be held at the Biltmore hotel at 1 o'clock this afternoon by F. H. Akers, director of sales.

The meeting will be one of 22 regional gatherings being held for the twofold purpose of previewing the company's 1934 models and of reviewing the new season's sales program formulated under direction of

F. H. AKERS.

A. van derZee, general sales manager of Dodge Brothers Corporation.

With public and trade interest brought to high pitch by preliminary announcements of what leading manufacturers are preparing to bring forth in the way of new features, the most immediate interest of the meeting naturally will center in the exhibit of the new Dodge models shipped here by express. The showings will include varying color specimens of the line, which will be offered in two wheelbases. The bodies of the two series are entirely different in character. Both chassis are equipped with six-cylinder floating power engines.

While no detailed information is to be given at this time regarding mechanical details of the new Dodge models, it may be said that they include many features of such fundamental newness as will place the line in the very forefront of latest automobile engineering advance.

One statement to be made by Dodge executives, is to the effect that both new Dodges will, among other innovations, present the combination of three outstanding mechanical features, only one of which will be encountered in latest products of other makers. The lines of the longer, roomier bodies also are entirely new, streamlining having been carried to lengths many doubly interesting by the fact that it emphasizes impressively beautiful exteriors.

To the closed, business session following the examination of the new Dodge models, it is to be expected that details of Dodge 1934 merchandising plans based on what the company regards as an inevitable readjustment of competitive levels established by new car values and changes in economic conditions.

Dealers here will be the guests of George T. Curry, regional manager.

U. S. COUPLE DENY SPY ACTIVITIES

Switz Declares Wife and Self Are 'Victims of An Error.'

PARIS, Dec. 21.—(P)—Robert Switz, an American, denied vehemently tonight police accusations that he may be connected with an international espionage syndicate which authorities believed would lead directly to "Germany's master organization."

"I am innocent of connections with the spy gang," the 29-year-old native of East Orange, N. J., told his attorney, Charles Moyse when the lawyer visited him in Sainte prison. "I was the victim of an error."

Switz protested also against the imprisonment of his wife, the former Marjorie Tilley, 22, of New York, who was arrested with her husband and eight others after investigators had spent months in tracing clues of officials believe may disclose far-flung ramifications.

M. Moyse declined to comment on his interview with Switz other than to say he was studying the charges.

Investigating Magistrate Benne was expected to make a thorough search of the couple's hotel room in the presence of the Americans on Saturday and to decide afterwards on whether the pair should be held for trial.

Hearings Saturday.
(Theodore) Maringer, American charge d'affaires in Paris, notified the Washington state department that he had investigated the case as completely as possible and that Mr. and Mrs. Switz would be given preliminary hearings in Paris on December 26. He said the examining magistrate had informed him that the French police were convinced of Switz's implication in the spy ring.

Meanwhile, a fear that the leaders of the suspected syndicate may have slipped through a widespread net inspired police to feverish activity in an effort to run down 40 members of what was described as the French section of an international spy ring.

Other trails, equally mysterious, were said by authorities to lead to England, where more than a month ago 33 persons, including Arvid Jacobson and his wife, former Michigan school teachers, were arrested and accused of espionage activities.

The vast scope of the police probe was shown in the issuing of about a thousand demands for information from banks, tourist agencies, and hotels in an effort to trace the movements of the band.

Authorities expressed the fear that highly valuable documents containing closely-guarded French military secrets and sketches of the line of trenches along the frontier had already been spirited out of the country.

In the mass of confiscated papers police professed to have found threads of evidence leading to Berlin. Communist documents taken from the baggage of the 10 persons led to the belief at first that soviet espionage was involved, but the theory was later advanced that these papers may have been designed to bedevil the trails.

Officials said the Switzes and other foreigners might be deported unless dangerous evidence were uncovered against them.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED BY IAN KEITH'S WIFE
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Baroness Fern Andra filed a suit for divorce today against Ian Keith, screen actor, whom she accused yesterday for separate maintenance.

She pictured Keith as indifferent and disagreeable, saying he scolded her, nagged her and told mutual friends that he was "through" with her.

ATLANTA FAMILIES BADLY IN NEED

ment have brought a new hope and confidence to people with jobs and incomes, but the means of progress are but mockeries to those who cannot work even if they were offered jobs. Every penny collected in the fund will go to those in need and not a cent is deducted for collection and administration. So substantial is this annual effort The Constitution that many of the leaders of civic and social life have heartily endorsed it.

But Atlanta seemed to be neglecting her opportunities to rescue the fallen and aid the destitute Thursday. There were four of the neediest families still on the list of those unprovided for. Their plight will be described in another column of this newspaper in two or three days in a special relief fund.

Only two days remain for making arrangements to relieve their suffering, two days in which Atlanta will spend thousands of dollars buying Christmas cheer for friends and loved ones. Streets will be thronged with people shopping and that merry feeling that grips those with money at this time of year will glow.

Donors need not give the sum subscribed to care for a family in a lump sum, but may send in monthly checks to cover the cost of support. In nearly every case last year givers found that to be the most satisfactory plan.

The appeal is issued to all. If you have a job or an income you can give something. Even a dollar will help. Send your check and currency to J. T. Ozburn, treasurer, Ten Opportunities Fund, care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Opportunity No. 1

A mother and her baby son are facing certain disaster unless immediate aid is extended—that will serve as a "year-round Christmas." Tuberculosis, valuing stage and nothing less than good food, warm shelter and cover will threaten disaster.

Mrs. M. suffered from tuberculosis infection as a young girl but two years in a sanitarium brought the bloom back to her cheeks and a light heart. Then came marriage and her baby—days of happiness and joy.

Use night after a few years of wedded life an automobile accident took the life of her husband, leaving the wife a widow with baby to bring up. There were no relatives who could help and Mrs. M. faced that most trying period that may come into a life—hungry young mouth to feed.

Heavily she took up her task, but worry and lack of nourishing food and hard work brought the White Death back. Now her child is threatened with the infection. Only $25 a month during next year will provide the necessities these two must have. Only $500 for the year and two excellent persons will be saved.

Opportunity No. 8

Six helpless people in one family group. The old story of tuberculosis and was faces from which hope departed many months ago and a nervous system unable to carry them through 1933.

An invalid father who once gave of his good fortune to the needy, daughter mother who earns small sums working for neighbors, two small girls as well as two girls who are unable to work because of tuberculosis infection, make up this group.

The case is one of the most pitiful in Atlanta—a case for fortunate people with jobs and incomes to rescue. Doctors say the older girls can be cured of their illness with proper food, rest and freedom from worry. If their necessities are not provided for, a slow death will result.

Only $20 a month, or $240 for 1934, will release them from their dread and anguish. The little girls will contract the disease if they are not properly cared for.

Opportunity No. 9

Only a few days until Christmas and a mother lies ill in bed agonizing because there seems to be no hope that Santa Claus will call to see her six children—but her year goes by and she sees next year in its dreary months marching by in a parade of suffering.

There were no relatives able to help this brave mother when she and her babies were deserted by the husband four years ago. She secured some work—sewing, mending and washing for more fortunate neighbors. It was inevitable that she would succumb to the strain.

The day came when she was unable to arise—that day she dreaded so long. Next day there was no breakfast, lunch or dinner for the children and the older lad set out in search of a job. As a messenger boy he earned a few cents a day to keep the wolf from the door.

Hard work and worry broke his spirit and health and he too was forced to bed. Doctors say that he will be able to return to work soon if he can receive good food and rest. It is estimated that with what he can earn only $20 a month will support the family. If some individual or group will help with $240 during next year, chances are good that the family will be self-supporting.

Opportunity No. 10

Seven people out in a little street at the edge of town face the bleakest season of the year for those without funds. Christmas Day will be a dread and every day next year will be a nightmare to mother and father and five children unless aid is given.

The father is a cripple, definitely incapacitated and the frail mother is nearing collapse from her efforts to care for five children and a helpless husband. The most carefully arranged budget shows that not more than $40 a month will care for these people and those with jobs and incomes must share with them.

Time was when the father contributed generously to others in need. Now his eyes hold only pain and he feels the P. W. C. and other governmental plans to relieve suffering. He could not work if a million jobs were offered him.

It is an opportunity, is this hand of good fortune, who are offered and out through no fault of their own. They must be aided for at least another year with a total subscription of $450.

Spelman and Morehouse Singers Offer Brilliant Concert of Carols

Students of Spelman and Morehouse Colleges joined in a brilliant concert of Christmas carols Thursday night at the Sisters chapel on the Spelman College.

Some 2,000 people were in the audience to hear a program that was itself varied and unique and which was rendered with unusual beauty and evidences of careful and intelligent training.

There were 23 carols on the program and two organ numbers. The carols were sung by the United Glee Clubs, by the Spelman quartet and by the Morehouse quartet.

The Spelman girls' quartet and the male students of Morehouse provided especially effective in spiritual numbers.

The program of carols was so arranged as to include old and new ones from most of the civilized nations of the world.

Probably the two most enjoyed were from the Sioux Indians and from Mexico. The Sioux Indian carol had something of the Russian in its sweeping chant and its attendant note of sadness. The selection of French carols began with one from the thirteenth century. One from the sixteenth century was followed by two more modern ones from French composers, "Bring a Torch, Jeanette, Isabella," and "Slumber Song of the Infant Jesus."

The spiritual, "Po' Little Jesus," with its poignant line, "Dis world's goin' to break your heart," was perhaps the most enjoyed of the spiritual numbers given by the quartet. Two spirituals from the coastal section of Georgia, "Who Named the Baby?" and "Mary's Baby," were also exceptionally well done.

The brilliant rectorial, "Hail to the Word's Anointed," concluded the program. —RALPH MCGILL.

BANKER ACCUSED OF MAIL ROBBERY

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—(P)—The trail of $250,000 in bonds and money snatched from two Chicago mail carriers a year ago led to the arrest in Texas today of a former bank president and a San Antonio attorney, accused in secret federal indictments of having conspired to dispose of a part of the loot.

The government prisoners were Z. D. Bonner, who was forced to resign as president of the Commercial National bank, of San Antonio, when indicted by the state of Texas in another case involving stolen bonds, and John H. Cunningham, the bank's attorney, also under indictment in the same state case.

Of the quarter-million dollars in securities taken by the mail robbers just across the street from the Chicago postoffice December 8, 1932, inspectors have recovered $200,000. They announced today that $47,500 of the bonds were found in the Commercial National bank, of San Antonio.

Thirty gangsters, politicians, hoodlums, gamblers and bankers have been indicted for conspiracy since the sensational morning holding of the registered mail carriers en route to the First National bank, just a block from the postoffice.

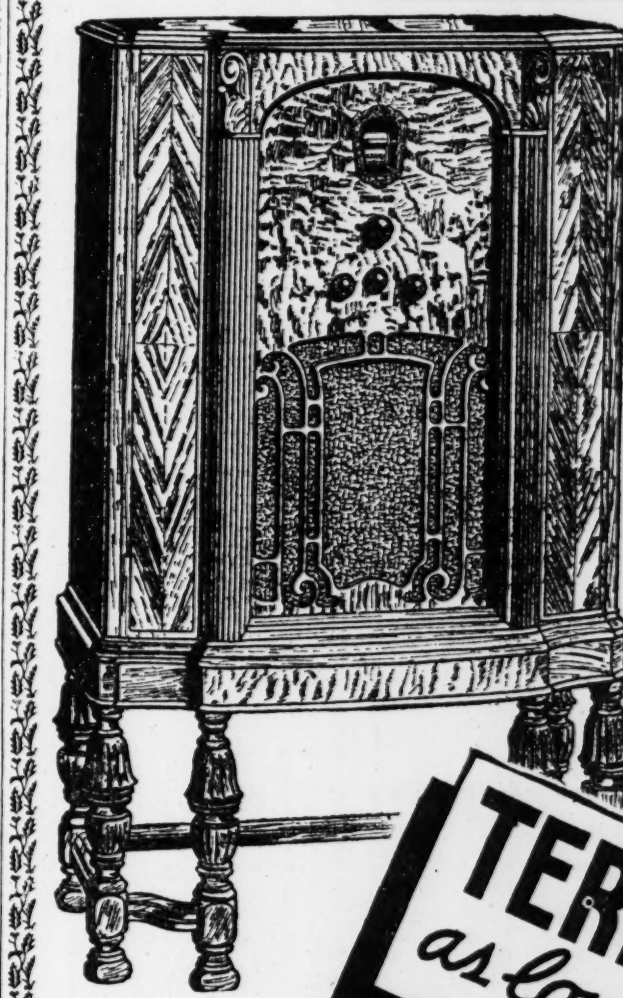

Two deaths have been attributed to the investigation—those of Edgar Levensberger, owner of the "205 Club," who killed himself in his luxurious Lake Shore drive suite the day he was indicted in the robbery, and a few days later Gus Winkler, suspected of being one of the liaison men in disposing of the loot, was assassinated on the doorstep of a politician's beer depot, 111 slugs in his body. He was a pal of Levensberger.

The federal officers here said they were still ignorant of the identity of the actual robbers; but with the arrest of the two Texans and the tracing of the bonds they were alleged to have bought from the robber syndicate, the government men say they were cutting down the lead of the robbers.

Louis "Curly" Fishman, Sol Stern and James De Grassi, Chicagoans, all were alleged to have made trips to San Antonio to negotiate with Bonner for disposal of the bonds. John J. "Boss" McLaughlin, politician-gambler, now free under $25,000 bond, accused as one of the chiefs of the "finance" department of the robber syndicate, was alleged to have sent De Grassi to Texas by plane to see Bonner.

Two months ago Bonner was indicted by a Texas grand jury on a charge of receiving and concealing and conspiracy in the disposal of $500,000 government bonds which disappeared from a New York bank. He was alleged to have bought them at 33 per cent discount.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Little interest was shown in the bond market today and generally unimportant fluctuations marked the dull trading since the early part of the month.

Sales dwindled to a total of $9,049,000, par value, and the average for 60 domestic corporate issues eased two-tenths of a point. For the sixth consecutive day, however, this average has pointed downward.

Fluctuations in domestic rates, with an unchanged domestic gold price and fresh rumors of currency stabilization discussions at Washington, found some improvement in United States government securities, although this section was unusually quiet.

Gains of fractions to around a point were shown by some issues of Baltimore & Ohio, N. Y. Central, Norfolk & Western, and Erie. Some of the issues of equal amounts included various bonds of Allegheny Corporation, Cleveland and Union Terminal, Pacific, Nickel Plate, Southern Pacific, Southern and Wahash.

In the utility and industrial divisions improvement was recorded by issues of Dodge Bros. General Cable, Goodrich, Loew's, Paramount, Public, Utah Power, Consolidated Gas and American Telephone. Among the issues of fractions to a point or more were loans of American & Foreign Power, International Telephone, New Orleans Public Service, United States Rubber and Youngstown Sheet & Tube.

Foreign obligations were irregular.

Automobile Output Shows Big Increase

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Automobile production in November was shown by department of commerce figures today to have totaled 63,904 vehicles, as compared with 42,818 in November last year.

Total production for the first 11 months of 1933 was 675,156 compared with 1,293,325 for the same period of 1932.

Kirkwood Man Recognizes as His Davis Story in 1886 Constitution

The Constitution's story Thursday morning concerning two 1886 copies of the paper elicited comments from many citizens of Atlanta who remember when these editions, as well as others of that era, were published.

Dr. Alfred Iverson Branham, of Kirkwood, a member of The Constitution staff when the papers were printed, recognized the story of Jefferson Davis' arrival in Atlanta and that of the unveiling of the statue of Benjamin Harvey Hill as his own copy.

"At that time," said Dr. Branham, "The Constitution, which started as a daily paper in 1868, was issued both daily and weekly. The story of Davis and the unveiling was assigned by Henry Grady to the city editor, Josiah Carter, grandfather of H. A. Carter, writer of the present column, 'In Georgia Fields and Streams, and me.' Dr. Branham was then 'general utility man in the news and editorial departments.' He wrote most of the column started by Henry Grady called 'Constitutionals.'

"Davis arrived in the city about 11 o'clock that morning," Dr. Branham continued. "We met his train under the Broad street bridge and followed his carriage on foot to the junction of Peachtree and West Peachtree, where the unveiling of the statue was to take place. There Carter and I separated and I covered the exercises from the stand."

An 1879 edition of The Constitution was brought to the office Thursday morning by Josiah H. Hardwick, president of the Atlanta Coin Collectors' Club, and collector of stamps, coins and old papers. The paper was composed of four wide pages, the first of which contained in full the revised homestead act of Georgia. The act was passed in the old capital on the site of the present Western Union building at Forsyth and Marietta streets. Mr. Hardwick's father, who saved that edition of The Constitution, was a justice of the peace at that time.

Other papers in Mr. Hardwick's collection include an 1896 edition of the New Orleans Daily Picayune, an Augusta Herald dated 1890, a Georgia

Weekly Telegraph (Macon) of 1861 and a Philadelphia Public Ledger dated 1836.
